

ABSTRACT

An information recording medium (100) includes: content information; and button information (301) for defining a button menu which 5 allows an operation as for the content information, for each reproduction capability which is necessary to reproduce the content information.